A Brief Stop Made at Cincinnati on the Way.

Ohio and Indiana Vie in Honoring the Nation's Chief.

The Journey to Indianapolis a Series of Popular Ovations - Brief Speeches at Several Stopping Places.

By Telegraph to The Times.
CINCINNATI, Aug. 21.—[By the Associated Press. J Amid the booming of cannon and cheers from a vast multitude gathered at the Central Station, the President of the United States arrived here at 10:15 o'clock. Crowds were at every station as the train came humming down this morning and gave cheers. When the train stopped, the President was besieged by eager patriots to shake hands. The party included Presi-dent Harrison, Attorney-General Miller, Secretary Rusk, Hon. John B. Elam, Gen. Thomas G. Morgan, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and others.

The Central Union depot was packed and there was almost a continuous ovation of applause until President Harrison reached the carriage, which he occupied with Gov. Foraker. There were present the First Regiment, Obio National Guards, commanded by Col. U. L. Hawkins, and Battery B of the Ohio National Guards. The latter fired a salute which added to the volume of a salute, which added to the volume of oise as the President was making his way to the carriage. The line of march to the to the carriage. The line of march to the Burnett House was packed with shouting people, while the windows were alive with men, women and children, all joining in the boisterous welcome to the Chief Magistrate. The President rode almost continually with his hat in hand, and was almost constantly bowing his acknowledgments to the enthusiastic greetings. The common expression among those who had not seen the President since the end of last fall's campaign was: "How well he looks." Arriving at the Burnett House a public reception in the elaborately adorned parlor began almost immediately. At the end of three-fourths of an hour the President was driven to the Builders' Exchange, where another address of welcome was made by President Allison of that body. Here again, as at the Burnett House, there was a great press of people was hake the President's hand.

PUBLIC RECEPTION.

From the Builders' Exchange the President was driven to the magnificent new building of the Chamber of Commerce, where it had been arranged that the members should have a reception for a quarter of an hour and then the public should be admitted for an hour. But the members became enguised in a great mass of people that crushed into the hall. The President, manyly to an address, referred to be fact.

The Presidential party at dinner today was joined by quite a number of gentlemen of Cincinnati, and both the dinner and the rest which followed it, when the President went to his room and received a few friends, was a pleasing contrast to the more exciting events that made up the programme for the first half of the day.

At the Chamber of Commerce reception the stream passed at the rate of fifty people to the minute. Long after the reception had ended crowds of people went into the Chamber of Commerce merely to see where the President had been, and to look at the decorations.

At 4:30 the President's departure from the Burnett House was the occasion for renewed applause. It was started by spectators in the corridor, who saw the President kiss a child in its mother's arms, as he was coming down the stairway. The President was accompanied by the Indianapolis Committee.

At 5 o'clock the train started. At that moment the President appeared at the rear platform, and a shout arose which continued until the train was out of sight.

OFF FOR INDIANAPOLIS.

INDIANAPOLIS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 21 .- Among th persons aboard the train leaving Cincinnoti were President Harrison, Attorney-General Miller, Private Secretary Halford, Secretary Rusk, Gen. Morgan, Commissoner of Indian Affairs; Ron. Dan M. Ransdell, Marshal of the District of Columbia; Capt. Meredith, Chief of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. To tell of the hearty and frank welcome at one place on the road is to tell of that of all. At Hamilton cannons thundered forth a Presidential salute as the train drew up. President Harrison replied: "Thank you. I prefer this modern vehicle 1, am riding on now. I am obliged to you and this audience for this hearty greeting. It gives me pleasure to cross the line into my own State which has been so hospitable and kind to me always, and it gives me pleasure to look into the faces of her happy and prosperous people tonight."

Gov. Hovey stepped out on the car platform behind the President and said: "Mr. President, as Governor of the State of Indiana I take pleasure and have the honor to welcome you to your State as a State that has honored you heretofore and is ready to do so hereafter."

President Harrison replied: "I thank you, Governor, for this welcome extended on the part of the people of the whole State. You have well said the people of Indiana have been kind to me, and if, when my public career is ended, I can return to you the happy possessor of your respect and goodwill I shall not leave public office with regret."

Indianapolis at 9 tonight. The President and party were met at the train by a committee from the Seventieth Indiana Regiment and from the Board of Trade. The President was secreted to a carriage, and the procession started for the Dennison House, where the President will make his stay. At the hotel the President was received by the Monument Commission and committees representing the G.A.R. and State of Indiana. He was received with short speeches by President Tanner of the Board of Trade and Gen. James R. Carnahan, welcoming him to the city and State. The President in reply, after expressing thanks for his reception, said:

"It was not my expectation when I left Indianapolis a few months ago that I would so soon return again to my home, but this occasion was one which I could not well be absent from. It is one that should enlist to a degree, that nothing else and do, our patriotic interest and State pride. It is true, as Gen. Carnahan has said, that I took an early interest in this movement. I felt that until this monument was built, until its top stone had been laid and its voice had been heard by the people of this State in expression and glad, therefore, to be present and see this mountment started. I reverently rejoice with you on this occasion, and hail he work which these commissioners have so wisely and magnificently begun."

At the close of his remarks the President was greeted personally by many of his friends. Then the President, Gen. Rusk and Private Secretary Halford ate a light lunch, and at 11 o'clock the President retired.

enough money to more than pay the interest on the debt, and in time liquidate all obligations.

The second mill is that known as the Nottingham Mill, in this city. Its liabilities are estimated at from $200,000 to $250,000. The assets nominally exceed this sum. The Thornton Worsted Company owed both Riverside mills and Brown, Steere & Clark their total indebtedness, being estimated at about $150,000. If their notes to the Riverside Mills, and Brown, Steere & Clark could be extended, and they ordinarily would have been, they could have paid every cent of their indebtedness, but being unable to get the extension, they were compelled to suspend paying. There is also a mortgage on the property for $50,000, held by Charles Fletcher.

The British Hosiery Company, located at Thornton, is reported as involved to some extent, but arrangements will be made to tide them over, as their liabilities are not very heavy.

A FURNACE COMPANY ASSIGNS.

READING (Pa.), Aug. 21.—This afternoon the Keystone Furnace Company, which operates two large furnaces here with a capacity of 450 tons per week, made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors. The president of the company, Henry Bushong, attributes the failure to duliness in the iron trade. The assets of the company consist of two furnaces and some land, probably worth allogather $200,000. Mortgages are recorded against the company amounting to $130,000, and the ficating obligations. New York, Auc. 20.—|By the Asso Press.| Within the memory of the steamshipman here, never has so muc terest been taken in a mid-August sa day as was manifested when the fleet of four big steamships left port this afternoon. There certainly never were so many passengers at an August sailing before. The big racers Teutonic of the White Star line, City of New York of the Inman line, Saale of of New York of the Inman line, Saale of the North German Lloyd and City of Rome. of the Anchor line, all had a fair number of saloon passengers, and all were eagerly discussing the merits of the several vessels. Of course the Teutonic and City of New York were the favorites, for the great race eastward to Queenstown lies between them. Numerous bets were made before the departure of the two racers, which will be settled in Liverpool. Odds slightly favored the Teutonic. And Maintains a Pretty Fair Equilibrium-His Checkered Matrimonial Career Brought Out-Changing a Date in the Bible-

Capt. F. M. Garrett's cross-examnation was concluded before Justice Lockwood yesterday, in the preliminary examination upon the charge of incest with his daughter, now Mrs. Edgecomb. The examination, while not so brusque as Mr. Williams's examination of Mrs. Edgecomb, was extremely searching, and it must be said that the defendant exhibited great powers of self-control and alertness in his answers. While it did not appear that he was forced to admit, and unwillingly, several discreditable transactions.

The case began at 9 o'clock, half an hour earlier than usual, Justice Lock-wood being anxious to bring the wearisome examination to a close as soon as possible.

The defendant upon being questioned in regard to his residence in San Francisco testified that he had shifted about from house to house pretty much as he did in the East and in Los Angeles. It also developed

San Francisco testified that he had shifted about from house to house pretty much as he did in the East and in Los Angeles. It also developed that he nearly always occupied one room with his daughters.

He then testified that he was first married in New Orleans in 1862, and that his wife obtained a divorce from him in 1874. Upon what grounds he could not state, as he let it go by default. His second wife, whose maiden name was Lizzie Lallance, died in 1882. In about two months afterward he married Josie Sheridan.

"Ellá was born to me," he said, "by my second wife, in 1878, I think. The first. Bible I had was burned up in Florida. My house there was a private residence. It was burned, and in the fire the Bible was burned. There was another fire—in New Orleans. We went down to Mardi Gras once, and when we got back our house was burned. I had had trouble with a man, and there was almost evidence enough to cause his arrest for arson. This was in 1880 or 1881. I was at Jacksonville, Fla., in 1881. I have had gentlemen's wives and daughters in my care on my boat, sir. 1 brought Nettie to vindicate herself and myself; to tell the truth. She is coming back."

The defendant was questioned very minutely about the money he alleges he missed from a wallet containing gentlemen's wives and daughters in my care on my boat, sir. 1 brought Nettie to vindicate herself and myself: to tell the truth. She is coming back." The defendant was questioned very minutely about the money he alleges he missed from a wallet containing $400, and which he says Maila told him she had stolen. The witness was more nearly rattled during this line of questions than he had been during any part of his testimony, and during it Mrs. Edgecomb had the bad taste to laugh, and her husband also. He said that he did not know that the stick was one of several little Ella had bought, and which originally contained a candy hatchet on the end.

The defendant introduced a Bible which contained the entries of the birth of his daughters. The entry of Maila Garrett's birth, he said, was made in Florida. It stated that she was born in the Charity Hospital, New Orleans, and that her mother was Anna Lewis, and father Mr. Camp. The date of Ella's birth had been changed, and the witness admitted that he had traced it over in July after the charge of rape had been made against Edgecomb. He denied that he had changed the date in order to bring Ella within the statutory limit of consent, 10 years of age. He said in response to questions about the matter:

"The alleged rape on Ella was the 18th or 19th of March. I did not change the 7 to an 8 in order to bring Ella under the age of consent. It was

"If he should state that he came in the morning at 6:30 o'clock to pay you rent, and saw you getting out of the bed in which your daughter was, what would you say?"

"It is too ridiculous to talk about. He is an enemy of mine. He left the house and did not pay his rent. I don't want to talk about him. I guess he is pretty well known in this town. I don't believe he would come into this court and say that."

The defendant was then questioned searchingly about his and his daughter's statements in The Times. He would not deny that he said to the reporter that he might have said that Edgeoomb diseased his younger daughter Ella.

"I was never engaged to Josie Corbett," he said. "I never talked with her seriously about marriage. I never talked with her nother about my property. I was never engaged to Nettie Keys, that I would call an engagement to be married. I don't know that she has ever corresponded about marriage. I am not aware of saying anything to May about marrying Nettie." Last Monday THE TIMES reproduced an article from the Chicago Times, giving the antics of "Dr." E. Herwig, alias Andreas Dusold. The article stated that the Doctor had eloped with a widow's only child named Miss Emms Schroeder, who had just fallen heir to anything to May about marrying Nettie."
"Did you not say to May that it would be a good thing to get Nettie to say that she was behind the folding bed and saw the raps?"
"That is positively false, like all her fabrications. Those are the emanations of her own brain.

There was very little more in the cross-examination of the defendant, and then L. N. Breed was put on the stand as to defendant's character. He testified that he had not heard it discussed before the occurrence. He had lodged against them so far as is known although the officers in Chicago wil probably succeed in working up a case against the "Doctor." The couple are now in this county, or they were in Los Angeles night before last.

On Monday morning a young woman, neatly dressed in black, answering in every respect the description published in The Fines on the same day, in company with the man mentioned in the article, visited a well-knowa lodging-house. Both man and woman arrived on an early morning train from the East. They acted strangely, and were shadowed by Patrolman Elms of Lawson's agency. The couple proceeded to the lodging-house on the corner of Alameda and Second streets, and engaged a room. The young woman asked for a paper, house on the corner of Alameda and Second streets, and engaged a room. The young woman asked for a paper, and a copy of The TIMES of the 18th was given to her, but she did not want it, as she had seen it, so she said. A TIMES of the 19th was borrowed from a neighbor and handed to her. She went into her room, and the first article she glanced at was the one referring to the elopement. The woman gave a shrick, and commenced crying. On emerging from her room her eyes were red and had her to make the construction of the shade of the long and a long black mustache. Soon after engaging the room, he left the house and proceeded to the nearest barber shop and had his whiskers and mustache shaven off clean. He wore gold-rimmed spectacles. As soon as the couple reached the lodging-house they wanted to know if the morning papers had arrived, and also asked how many papers are published in Los Angeles. The man carried an artists' box, which worked on a hinge. Evidently there was a picture inside the box.

The Colonel was rather nettled yesterday over a piece of rank carelessness on the part of the Board of Public Works, in which his office was ignored and the city damaged to the extent of about 1700 cubic yards of first-class gravel.

The Union Construction Company has the contract for grading a portion of Brooklyn street, and needed some gravel for completing the work. In place of hauling the material and putting it down, a request was made to be allowed to remove some dirt from a portion of the street to allow the water to run off.

This was granted, whereupon the construction company proceeded to strip the street for four blocks of all the gravel in sight, which will necessitate more being hauled when that portion of the street is graded. The Colonel says that it is one of the most outgrayed in the street for four blocks of all the gravel in sight, which will necessitate more being hauled when that portion of the street is graded. C. M. Wells being absent sent in a special report in writing concerning the water supply. In it he said: "The time has come for organized resistance. Our protests have been met with promises not even kept. An entire absence of water is now the general condition. The tiny and uncertain stream has to be caught in pans and pails and stored away for future use. Our property is in constant danger from fire and is liable to depreciation. It is but recently that Mr. Banning has been able to look after the estate of his mother, which includes several valuable pieces of property in Los Angeles county. Parties have applied to Mr. Banning since he became of age to obtain quitclaim deeds, asserting that such deeds were necessary to perfect the title of claim deeds, asserting that such deeds were necessary to perfect the title of premises formerly owned by his deceased father and mother. Mr. Banning, in having the title thoroughly examined of all premises acquired by his father and mother and not conveyed by them during their lifetime, has brought to light the valuable rights that he is now seeking to recover. He not only expects to recover one-half of the premises, but also one-half of the rents and profits for many years, for there are several business blocks thereon, and the amount will aggregate thousands of dollars.

The resolution as introduced by Mr. Ellis at the meeting Monday night, is as follows:

as follows:

WHEREAS, the lot on Castelar street, near Sand, worth $25,000, given by the city for High School purposes, seems to many voters of the city unsuitable for the High School building; and, whereas, the board has asked the voters of the city to vote for the issuing of $200,000 in bonds for school purposes, without having provided for the site for a High School, having deemed the above site given to us free of cost a suitable one; and, whereas, the importance of issuing these bonds, irrespective of the question of the High School site, is manifest to all; therefore,

therefore,
Resolved, that while we approve the site given by the city, it is the sense of this board that the site for the High School building be left at present undetermined and made the subject of a separate vote by the people, and with this view, as a preliminary step, that offers of other sites be solicited at once, giving size of lot, description, assurance of title, price, terms of payment and name of bona fide owner; and that this list be published in the official newspaper of the city.

Mr. Gosper took issue with Mr. Ellis as to the construction put upon the City Attorney's opinion, when Mr. Ellis stated that Mr. McFarland had objections to the resolution, while the resolution was not contrary to law, he would advise the board, as a matter of policy, against any change at this time.

Mr. Gosper thought that he knew more about Mr. Ellis's resolution than that gentleman did himself, and read it over very slowly and impressively, interpreting it himself as he went along. He said that it suited him pretty well, but he wanted some minor mendments suggested, and Mr.

Whaling coming in at this moments.
The members then began to caucus, and it developed that almost every one of them was loaded with a resolution, all more or less embodying Mr. Ellis's idea, but in different phraseology. The informal consultation was brought to an abrupt close by Mr. Whaling taking the floor and asking that the members come to order and proceed with business, as he had an engagement and wanted to return to his office as soon as possible. The members were almost paralyzed by their Democratic colleague's break, but as soon as they recovered President Pomeroy mounted the chair and intimated that he was ready for any further remarks.

Mr. Cox then addressed the board. He thought that they should have an expression of opinion, but was afraid that they could not get it if the elec-

They could call it if they desired, and if they did not, then the board could go ahead and build where they felt disposed.

Mr. Whaling followed in a heated oratorical effort against the Castelar-street site, incidentally bringing in the fact that, in his opinion, the proper place was at the corner of Grand avenue and Eighth street.

President Pomeroy briefly replied, saying that there was nothing the matter with the Castelar-street site. The city had moved a school on the adjoining lot, at which there were about 500 pupils, and there had been no objection, but as soon as it was proposed to put the High School there, and erect a fine building, there had been a general protest on the part of those who hoped to be benefited by having the school go elsewhere.

Mr. Copp, a lawyer, was then, on motion of Mr. Whaling, invited to address the board, and made a few rambling remarks, in which he was several times called to order by Mr. Ellis, in opposition to the Castelar-street site, and was willing to help the board out of the old St. Vincent College property, including the building, for $90,000. The Major said that he considered the property worth more, but was willing

IT EXERCISES THE BOARD OF EDUCATION GREATLY,

And Finally Mr. Ellis's Resolution to Leave the Matter to a Vote of the People Is Adopted—Some Queer Crawfishing.

The Board of Education met in their new rooms in the City Hall yesterday afternoon, with President Pomeroy in the chair, and the following members present: Messrs. Cox, Ellis, Frew Woodburty, McIntosh, Gosper and Whaling.

The president stated that the board met in adjourned session for the purpose of considering the matter of the High School site, and as soon as the meeting was called to order, Mr. Ellis moved that all other business be dispensed with, and consideration of the subject matter be proceeded with, which motion prevailed by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Ellis then stated, as one of the committee appointed for that purpose, who had stated the City Attorney, who h in favor of the resolution.

There was a general sigh of relief when the momentous question was settled, and the board at once adjourned, having been in session for something over two hours, during which every member had made from one to five speeches, with the exception of Maj. Frew, and the Hon. M. Whaling had for a short time occupied the chair.

He thought, however, that it would be better to change the wording of the resolution, to better cover the case, as he wanted it made clear that the matter of the site would have to be voted on at some future days so that the would be not some future days as the would be resolution; he was afraid it would in some way invalidate the bonds.

Mr. Ellis could not see it in that way, and insisted that his resolution was in proper shape. There was but one thing that could be voted for on the day of the election, and that was for or against the bonds.

The matter of the second of opening Hoff street was brought up and Mr. Johnson said if the expense was going to be as much as represented he should be in favor of abandoning the enterprise at present. It was suggested that the oppoint of postponing the enterprise at present. It was suggested that the property-ones to decide the matter, and the chamber took no action.

Mr. Whaling protested that he had not been treated fairly, but nevertheless took advantage of the situation to make another speech, in the course of which he remarked that, in his humble opinion, there was but one thing in favor of the Castelar-street site, and that was that if it was changed, some one would make $5000 or $10,000 out of the school fund on some real-estate deal, and this he did not wish to see.

A vote was then taken on the Ellis and this he did not wish to see.

A vote was then taken on the Ellis is resolution, and it passed by a vote of five to three, but before the result was announced, Mr. McIntosh changed his vote, making the final vote six to two in favor of the resolution.

THE ARID LANDS OF CALIFORNIA.

The Senate Committee on Arid Lands will arrive in the State during the present week, and at once proceed to a thorough investigation of our irrigation resources, consequently, any-thing pertaining to this question is at present of more than usual interest.

The report of the Committee on Arid Lands of the California State THE TIMES OWNS THE EXCLUSIVE RIGHT FOR Board of Trade, advance sheets of which we acknowledged receipt of a few days ago, deals with the following questions:

What is the physical condition of California so far as it relates to irrigation?
What amount of irrigable land is there in the State?

What amount of water can be obtained for the purpose of irrigation?
What are the advantages of irrigation?
In this connection, does irrigation pay?
What is the condition of irrigation as at present practiced in California, and what interest has the National Government in the subject of irrigation on the Pacific Coast, and in relation to all that extent of country known as the "Arid Region," which lies west of the Missouri River?

In face of the much vaunted claim that the lands of Northern California "require no irrigation," the report states that most of the lands of the Sacramento Valley would be benefited by irrigation, such lands being found in Tehama, Butte, Colusa and other

Considerable space is devoted to the question of irrigation in Southern Cali-fornia. Touching the Mohave Desert, the report has the following:

The Mojave River lies south of the San Joaquin Valley, contains a large amount of water which can be successfully used for irrigation on what is known as the Mojave Desert. The Mojave Desert is a desert only in this sense—there is not rainfall sufficient to make grass and crops matrix in Los Angeless. The voting of the bonds means delay.

The "inprogressive element" does not consist of those who favor moderation, but of those who favor moderation, but of those who want boodle in place of practical work.

The 'Bone don't like the fact that the East Los Angeles Board of Trade has decided against the Ballona bonds. It wasn't down on its programme.

Los Angeless is returning to her normal summer temperature again. She made a somewhat sorry break the past week, though the nights were pretty comfortable.

Mojave Desert The Mojave Desert is desert only in this sense—there is not rainfals sufficient to make grass and crops mature, but the soil is rich, the climate genial, and with water almost anything will grow with luxuriance. The capabilities of this race are more fully referred to hereafter. South of this, and forming the extreme southern boundary of the State, is the Colorado River, which with the exception of the Columbia, is the largest river on the Pacific Coast. It bounds the State of California on the south, and it borders what is below the level of the river, and some of it below was level. It is nearly all susceptible of irrigation, and by bringing water upon tit would make this one of the most fertile places in the world. It is estimated that this river will successfully irrigate 1,000,000 acres of land; the most of which that can

On the subject of the sources of the irrigating water in Los Angeles and Orange counties—the irrigated land in orange counties—the irrigated land in which is put at 150,000 acres—the report says:

The sources of the irrigating water supply of these counties are the rivers Los Angeles and San Gabriel in Los Angeles county, the lower part of the Santa Ana in Orange county (the upper part being in San Berlin ardino county). Many creeks and small streams, whose flow is of short duration, springs and springy lands (called clenegas), and many hundreds of artesian wells. The rivers except the Los Angeles, rise in the rivers to say the sign mountains, and are practically perennial. It is true their waters disappear in their sands during most of the dry season soon after debouching from the mountain, and point along their channels by simply running ditches into them. The water supply in the rivers alone is sufficient to irrigate all the land of the counties to which water could be advantageously applied, if properly stored and distributed. The volume of the streams in winter is enormous; utterly beyond computation, and but a small portion of it would need to be saved for use in the dry season. The average summer flow of the San Gabriel River is about 10,000 inches; that of the Los Angeles River is 3750 inches, and that of the lower Santa Ana 4000 inches. This estimate is of surface flow only. During the usual three months of the irrigating season the water is all appropriated; it is not all utilized, however, as much is wasted both by seepage and evaporation in the open, porous, earth ditches in which it flows, and much is allowed to run to waste. The streams whose waters rarely show outside the mouths of their gorges except under the influence of considerable rainfall, are capable of furnishing a great quantity of water for storage. It many instances they are the only source of supply for the higher mosa and springy lands. These lands are found and they are under the influence of considerable rainfall, are capable of furnishing a great quantity of water for storage. It many instances they are the only source of supply for the h ply are the springs and marshy lands of Pomona, on the eastern border of Los Angeles county; the springs of Santa Anita and San Gabriel, the marsh lands of the Rio Honda and Paso de Bartola, near the center, and those at the head of the Los Angeles River, on the San Bernardino plains near the west line. They furnish many hundred inches of water and are among the most reliable and valuable of water rights.

To the delectation of the non-churchigors, we had more excursions, and the san Bernardino Band, which caused considerable dissension in some families where the "small boys" have their babitation, they having determined that it was too exasperating to be where they could only hear the thand of the drum, and that they would have to go down on the pier where the crowd was to hear the music. One often admires Grant-like and Napoleonic qualities of water with safety and profit. The first expense, however, is very great, and private enterprise is not ready to undertake it on a large scale except in the most favorable localities. The waters of the San Gabriel River, Regarding the facilities for storage west of the Missouri River?

Among the peculiar topographical advantages of California for irrigation are mentioned the fact that nearly every stream heading in the Sierra Nevada Mountains comes from the snow belt, and is supplied by the melting snows, which continue until July or August of each year. Again, the two great valleys of the Sacramento and San Joaquin contain very little rolling land, and there is an uniform trend of the surface of the ground texture.

Among the peculiar topographical except in the most favorable localities. The waters of the San Gabriel River, brought out upon the higher hill lands of the Azusa or Duarte, would suffice to irrigate all the great valley below, the coast plain beyond, and the intervening range of hills to their very tops.

Rumor has it that one of the company is shortly to go to London for the purpose of interesting London capital in the development of Redondo.

The extension of the narrow-gauge track to the pier is rapidly assuming shape, from eight to 12 teams with scrapers being employed upon it.

I was told this morning that actually and truly five carriage-loads of people to flow over the San Bafael, bills and and San Joaquin contain very little rolling land, and there is an uniform trend of the surface of the ground from the foothills of the Sierra Newadas west to the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers. Perhaps there is no country in the world where so much land can be regularly and profitably or the lands of the John Brown Sons, or other available places could be made to flow over the San Rafael hills and those in and adjoining East Los Angeles. So with the San Dimas and the streams of Santa Anita, Eaton, Tejungan, Pacoima, San Fernando, Mormon Creek, Verdugo and Santiago, whose land can be regularly and profitably or the lands of the John Brown Sons, or other available places could be made to flow Long Beach had acknowledged to coming over here to fish today. in irrigation? To this we shall recurlater. The report is strong and carefully compiled, and will undoubtedly make a good impression on the visiting committee. REDONDO BEACIL

An Interesting Batch of News from the New Seaport. REDONDO BEACH, Aug. 20 .- [Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Our comercial bump of esteem is fast regaining its normal size and condition, as we have had a steamer every day for the past five days; also, the steam schooner Proteccion, carrying 45 tons of freight, 75,000 laths and a large con-signment of posts for the fencing in of signment of posts for the telecting in of the narrow-gauge railroad.

The steamer Santa Maria landed to-day 75 tons of freight, and the Bonits is expected tonight with more—general merchandise. A gentleman told me last evening that the people of Redondo had very faint ideas of the amount of business that would be done here by Christmas. Christmas.

In piscatorial sports, the yellow-tails have been uppermost lately, fol-lowing close upon mackerel week. I do not know the order of succession of the different species of the finny tribe, but certainly at times it seems to be all mackerel, then again herring, etc., all through the catalogue. Perhaps some incipient Bacon or Franklin may turn his inductive mind in that direction and tabulate the order of appearance, so that when we want a mess of smelt for breakfast we will not turn up with rock cod or sheepshead.

smelt for breakfast we will not turn up with rock cod or sheepshead.

I heard a lady say the other day that she was going to magnetize the fish-hooks and then she would show us what she would do; that she had always heard successful fishermen kept their minds about their business, and that one could not chat nonsense and expect to be lucky in fishing at the same time, so it followed clearly to her in mind that it was simply a law of magnetic attraction, and she would catch fish if they were at all susceptible to the quality of the article. I am not yet informed what process of incantation or manipulation she will use, but or course the success of it is a foregone conclusion. The sea will swarm

Ex-Gov. Crawford Defends Himself from the Charges In Connection with Creek Indian Lands-Notes.

By Telegraph to The Tim s.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] A Washington special to the Brooklyn Eagle says: On account of a de iciency in the appropriation it becomes necessary to reduce the force of clerks at all pension agencies throughout the country. Several discharges were made at the agency today, and the first name among the removals was that of Miss Tanner, eldest daughter of the Corporal. She was ap-pointed over a year ago under Commission-er Black, and should not be mistaken for the younger daughter, who is the Pension Commissioner's private secretary.

CREEK LANDS.

Ex-Governor Crawford's Claim for Negotiating Their Sale. WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.- [By the Associted Press.] Ex-Governor Samuel J. Craw-ord, against whom it was proposed to intitute proceedings for having, as the atter ney of the Creek Indians, received 10 per cent of the proceedings of the sale of about 2,400,000 acres of their lands in Oklanoma, today filed with the Secretary of the Interior a sworn statement. When the Creeks in December, 1884, learned that bills were pending in Congress to vest in the United States the title to Oklahoma lands, they employed him either to defeat legislature or secure compensation, agreeing to pay him 10 percent, on whatever amount he might secure. He obtained $2,280,857 for their interest. The Secretary of the Interior approved Crawford's contract after amending it to make the compensation 6% per cent. In December, 1888, new delegates of the Creeks asked that a new contract, fixing the compensation at 10 percent, be entered to be full payment for all past and future service. This new contract was approved by the Creek National Council. bills were pending in Congress to vest in oil.

In February, 1889, Secretary Vilas informed Gov. Crawford that he would defeat the measure which was then pending in Congress to make an appropriation to pay the Creeks for their lands, unless he (Crawford) surrendered the contract, and looked to the Indiass for whatever compensation they deemed just. Gov. Crawford says he agreed under protest to this arrangement, and since then has had no control over what compensation the Creeks should give, and they fixed the fee themselves and without his interference.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21. - [By the Associated Press.] The Daily News' Ottawa (Ont.) special says: Important dispatches from the British Government arrived here on New Territory.

GUTHRIE (Oklahoma), Aug. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] In the Territorial Cou- and Sir John Macdonald, who has been spending a holiday at the seaside, has vention today Horace Speed of Guthrie presented a memorial to be presented to the United States Congress. It claims that Indian Territory is as thickly settled as the average of States in the Union, and prays for similar protection. At present there is no legal provision for the construction or maintenance of public works of any kind (not even for public scheols), or for the telvying of taxes for any purposes whatever. There is no means by which crimes may be punished unless they be against the United that negotiations are now in progress be-tween the United States and British gov-ernments, to effect a settlement of the difficulty by arbitration.

A member of the Cabinet said today that he had not the least doubt that in the end the Bering Sea question would be settled to the satisfaction of every one and that before long.

THE RUSH'S SEIZURES

How They Are Regarded by Wash-WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] The State and Treasury departments are without information further than that contained in previous dispatches respecting additional seizures of illegal sealers in Bering Sea by the revenue cutter Rush. It is believed at the Treasury Department that the captain of the Rush could not have been aware of the conduct of officers of the Black Diamond in carrying off the prize crew to a British port, or he might have adopted a different course with his last seizure, and different course with his last seizure, and accompanied his prizes with his own vessel into Sitka Harbor. It would not be possible, with the limited number of his crew, to have placed a sufficient number of men aboard the seized vessels to carry them safely into an United States port against the wishes of a hostile crew.

OTTAWA (Ont.), Aug. 21.—No official information regarding the recent seizures in Bering Sea bas yet reached the Dominion Government. The impression prevails here that all vessels seized, with the exception of the Black Diamond, obeyed orders and proceeded to Sitka.

PREPARING FOR THE FIRE ENGINE MUDDLE.

Almost a Serious Runaway-Here and There-Local Intelligence A Pupil's Testimonial-Personal Gossip.

PASADENA, Aug. 21 .- [Correspondence of THE TIMES.] This morning, as H. A. Hurndall of Los Angeles, but formerly of this city, was driving a young horse hitched to a buggy up Bellefontaine avenue, the animal dashed into a telephone pole, near Orange Grove avenue, and threw the occupant to the ground. The line had caught in the singletree, and when pulled out the animal at once took fright. The frightened animal freed himself from the wrecked vehicle and continued on down into the arrayo, where he was caught. During this time Mr. Hurndall lay where he fell, unable to get up. A carriage was sent for, and the injured man brought to Hurndall & Metherby's Music Store. unable to get up. A carriage was sent for, and the injured man brought to Hurndall & Metherby's Music Store. Dr. Hodge, who made an examination, reports no serious injury, and only a bad bruise of the right hip. The injured man was removed to the Natick House, in Los Angeles, where he boards, this afternoon.

The Tournament Games-The An-

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 21.—[Correspondence of The Times.] As the days roll by so does the interest in the tennis tournament at the Casino increase, and its success both socially and financially is now well assured. And so it should be, for never has a better aggregation of players been assembled together in Southern California, and the games are well contested and in many instances are quite exciting.

The closing games in the gentlemen's mile interesting. The closing games in the gentlemen's singles prove quite interesting, K. Carter disposing of Cawston with a score of 4.6, 6.2, 6.3, and F. Carter defeating Barnes by 6.2, 6.3. Then came the tug of war, for the Carter brothers had to face one another, the result being that Frank came off victorious with a score of 6.2, 6.1, 6.5

The ladies' singles also concluded with very well-played games. Miss Carter beat Miss Wilkes by 6.4, 6.2, and Miss G. Gilliland defeated Miss English by 6.2, 6.2. The closing contest was won by Miss Carter, who defeated Miss Gilliland by a score of 6.5, 6.3.

The dramatic entertainment given at Steere's Opera-house last night by Mr. R. Peyton-Carter's company of amateurs attracted a large and distinguished audience. The piece presented was Robinson's celebrated comedy Caste. and in both the setting and the acting there was nothing to eavil at; in fact, it was the unanimous verdict that the company could hold its own with a good many professional companies on the road. The parts were sustained by Miss Corson, Miss Tomkinson, Miss Whitely, Mr. K. Carter, Mr. G. L. Waring, Mr. A. L. Twiss, Mr. R. P. said that all the locations offered are good. This is not true.

In fairness to all other locations (except the Waterman and Severance location) I must say they are good, and some of them are all that the people of the State could wish in respect to the climate, soil and high, dry atmosphere, with hot and ditch water taken from the best springs and ditches for domestic and irrigation purposes. We would be glad to see this asylum matter properly ventilated. ated

Some remarkable things happen. If Gov. Waterman, the one to approve of the location, and Mrs. Severance, one of the commissioners, are to locate the asylum on their land, thereby bargaining with themselves, woo be unto the State of California and the inmates of the asylum!

I am not a lawyer, but I know something of human nature, when a man can make a bargain just as he would have it. As soon as the commission came in search of a location, the Courier, our Democratic organ, got into its big brain (just after the Governor had arrived) that Gov. Waterman might be prevailed upon to sell to the State his valuable mountain home worth $250,000 for the small sum of $75,000.

ORR & SUTCH.

The Handsomest Undertaking Parlors on the Coast. Messrs. Orr & Sutch, undertakers and embalmers, No. 47 North Spring street, have just finished the complete renovation of their establishment, and now have the handsomest undertaking parlors on the coast. The front or main business office is very elaborately decorated, but in good taste throughout. The panel of the ceiling is in out. The panel of the ceiling is in plain cream tint, with an ivy vine in relief trailing over it. This is relieved by an 18-inch lincrusta border of Renaissance style and a center of stucco. The cove is a light shade of terra cotta, and has for a base an 18-inch velvet frieze, bound by two gilt moldings. The wall is in plain dark terra cotta, with a base in lincrusta panels, finished in variegated bronzes. The whole room is relieved with bronzes of the different hues, the general effect being rich and striking, but in entire harmony throughout. All of this work was executed by the well-known firm of Eckstrom & Strasburg, under the supervision of Charles B. Tidball. A private office is divided off by a handsome oak and glass partition. This work was designed by the Los Angeles Mantel Company, and is one of the most artistic specimens of hand carving ever produced in the city. Back of the main office is a richly furnished parlor, where funeral services may be held, in cases where it is desired that burials shall take place from the establishment. In the rear of the store is a room where everything in the shape of the finest cloth-covered and metallic caskets are exhibited, Messrs. Orr & Sutch carrying the largest stock of any house on the coast. Embalming is also a special feature, and two vaults are also provided in the store, where bodies may be preserved until such time as friends or relatives desire them shipped east or interred. Messrs. Orr & Sutch stand plain cream tint, with an ivy vine in

A week ago, when the gentlemen who are in favor of sewer bonds met, without giving notice that they intended to make set speeches, and all that kind of thing, they protested loudly because THE TIMES did not accept a patched-up report of the proceedings. Last night they had a second meeting. That is, about one and a half dozen gentlemen met in the Board of Trade rooms and talked sewer water, where the water did not run at all. It is a fact that if all the water that rises in the cañon in summer was used with care in the best seasons, it would not water 50 acres of alfalfa, while the dry seasons are to be guarded against. If the commissioners only want a location on which to build an asylum, the Governor's home is a good one consisting of some 25 acres of land and water sufficient for the same. But to talk about watering any of the Severance land is folly, and, in the judgment of the writer, will never be agreed to by any of the commissioners. It is the general impression here at high price property to the State that cannot be of any value to the State that cannot be of any value to the State that cannot be of any value to the State that cannot be of any value to the State that cannot be of any value to the State that cannot be of any value to the State for any purpose. The postponement has been a puzzle. It might be for Several more to get his title clear from the White heirs, the Supreme Court having decided in his favor.

I wish to say that the people here have not lost faith in some of the commissioners. But you can see they have to work against the veto of the Governor, and as Brown said to your former correspondent, all want harmony.

If any reason could be shown why water and a support of the same and support of the same and support of the commissioners. But you can see they have to work against the veto of the governor, and as Brown said to your former correspondent, all want harmony.

What Then? Los Angeles, Aug. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times.] You say, ediiter of THE TIMES.] You say, editorially, that the $440,000 will only be the first installment on outfall sewer. Quite correct. Likely not more than one-third of the total cost; but how are you going to pay the second and third installments when you have exhausted all resources of borrowing to pay the first installment. What then will save the first payment from being a total loss? Parties present tell me the vote against bonds in East Los Angeles last night was absolutely unanimous. B.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The stock market today was somewhat more animated, but the improvement was confined to less than half a dozen stocks, and those were affected by special causes. The announcement of a deal by which the Union Pacific obtains control of Navigation served to keep that stock firm on a declining market, but the extreme fluctuation of stock for the day was and steady to firm at a shade under the best price. Final changes are generally insig-nificant and about equally divided be-tween gains and losses, though Northern Philip II., King of France, was born August 22, 1165, and succeeded his father, Louis VII., in 1180. He banished the Jews from France, confiscated their property, and joined Richard I. of England in a crusade in the East, where his abandonment of his ally brought on a war with Engvade England at the instigation of Pope Innocent III., but King John's submission to the papal see induced Innocent to stop the invasion. Philips subsequently invaded Flanders, where he captured several towns and gained the decisive victory of Bouvines over the Germans August 27, 1214. Is located midway between Los Angeles and the sea and has a perfect climate, the result of protection from high winds and sudden changes in temperature. The town is provided with a magnificent water system derived from FLOWING ABTESIAN WELLS.

One of the railway lines of the Santa Fe system runs through this place and affords easy access to Los Angeles or the seaside.

Shakespeare has commemorated the defeat and death of Richard III. at the battle of Bosworth Field, August 22, 1485. It is to be remembered that the first of the Tudor sovereigns was a Welsh nobleman, and was largely indebted for his success to the aid of his countrymen. When Richard became aware of the Earl of Richmond's intention to dispute his right to the throne, he sent commissioners to demand of Blys ap Thomas the oath of a legiance and the surrender of his son as a hostage. The first demand was conceded, the second refused. This oath, however, did not prevent his joining Richmond when the latter asked for his assistance. When the battle commenced, Richard, grinding and gnashing his teeth, ranged everywhere in search of Richmond, whom having found, he made at him furiously, overturning the Earl's standard-bearer and other royal attendants by the fury of his charge, Rhys ap Thomas, having followed Richmond, and seeing his party begin to quait, sent to Sir William Stanley to aid the Earl, who now despaired not only of vietory, but of his life. Stanley's charge secured the vietory and the crown for Henry VII.

KILLED FOR WITCHCRAFT. It is a remarkable proof of the eternity of ignorance that so late as It is a remarkable proof of the eternity of ignorance that so late as August 22, 1751, a man was executed at Tring in England for the murder of a poor woman suspected of witchcraft. In 1745 a woman named Ruth Osborne besought one Butterfield for a little mik, and being refused she went away muttering that she wished the pretender would come and carry off his cattle. Butterfield soon after fell into ill health and adversity, and it became impressed upon his mind that Mrs. Osborne's ill-will was the cause of his misfortunes. To counteract the evil he procured a wise woman, who confirmed the general opinion, and directed six able-bodied men with pitchforks to guard Butterfield's house. This method proving expensive as well as ineffectual, it was resolved to punish the witch for her evil. Accordingly it was proclaimed by the public criers in the adjoining market town, that "on Monday next a man and woman were to be publicly ducked at Tring for their wicked crimes." The mob collected, and the unhappy woman and her husband perished at the hands of the furious assailants. Only one of the participants, however, in this outrage incurred the just penalty of his crime, his execution at Tring taxing place August 22, 1751, as above stated.

Baker and Williams, the two toughs arrested by Officer Johnson Monday afternoon, were yesterday found guilty of disturbing the peace and battery before Judge Stanton. They will come up for sentence today. Burns, the third one of the gang, will come up tomorrow. After they have been examined on the minor charges against them, the entire lot will be tried for robbery.

Carrie Blair, the notorious woman arrested several days ago on a charge of having robbed one of the male visitors at her "crib," on New Higgstreet, was yesterday examined before Judge Owens, and discharged, the prosecuting witness failing to materialize. The woman had deposited $1000 cash ball for her appearance, which she left with the Judge, saying that if the man who claimed to have been robbed burned up, the money could again be placed to her credit as bail, so that she would not have to again go to jail.

This is an inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of all the pulmonary elisesses. It is a dangerout the blood, and in many cases, particularly after it passes into the chronic stage, the substance of the lungs becomes seriously involved giving rise to what is very properly called bronchial consumption. In the acute form there is a sense of tightness or pressure across the chest, with considerable wheezing, severe cough and expectorat on. This is at first a white glairy mucus, which after a time becomes purulent. The patient in some cases is obliged to sit up in bed, the oppression across the cheet is agreed, and the skin is clammy and prostration rapidly sets in, and in fatal cases there will be muttering delirium, some and death.
